INDEX OF AUTHORS (WITH THE TITLE OF PAPERS)

BETTS, R. 'Tried as in a furnace': the National Union of Teachers and the abolition of the school boards, 1896–1903, 55

COLDREY, B. 'A charity which has outlived its usefulness': the last phase of Catholic child migration, 1947–56, 373

COLEMAN, M. C. The symbiotic embrace: American Indians, white educators and the school, 1820–1920s, 1

COX, G. School music broadcasts and the BBC 1924–47, 363

DEKKER, J. J. H. An educational regime: medical doctors, schoolmasters, jurists and the education of retarded and deprived children in the Netherlands around 1900, 255

GARDNER, P. The giant at the front: young teachers and corporal punishment in inter-war elementary schools, 141

HAKE, B. J. The Dutch Woodbrookers' movement and the development of residential adult education in The Netherlands, 1903–41, 335

HORN, P. English theatre children, 1880–1914: a study in ambivalence, 37

JENKINS, E. W. and SWINNERTON, B. J. The School Nature Study Union 1903–94, 181

KALLAWAY, P. Fred Clarke and the politics of vocational education in South Africa, 1911–29, 353

KLIEBARD, H. M. Constructing the concept of curriculum on the Wisconsin frontier: how school restructuring sustained a pedagogical revolution, 123 [See Erratum, p. 299.]

KNIGHT, P. Subject associations: the cases of secondary phase geography and home economics, 1976–94, 269

MCLAREN, D. J. Robert Owen, William Maclure and New Harmony, 223

PARKER, D. 'This gift from the gods'? Hertfordshire and the 1936 Education Act, 165

PINE, L. The dissemination of Nazi ideology and family values through school textbooks, 91

ROBERTSON, B. D. Campus schemes of secondary education in England and Wales, 1952–82, 387

SNELL, K. D. M. The apprenticeship system in British history: the fragmentation of a cultural institution, 303

STOCKS, J. C. Church and state in Britain: the legacy of the 1870s, 211

SWINNERTON, B. The 1931 Report of the Consultative on the Primary School: tensions and contradictions, 73

SWINNERTON, B. J. see JENKINS, E. W.

TOMLINSON, S. From Rousseau to Evolutionism: Herbert Spencer on the Science of Education, 235

WILLIAMS, H. G. Longueville Jones, Ralph Lingen and inspectors' reports: a tragedy of Welsh education, 19

WILLIS, R. Professional autonomy or state sponsorship: the dilemmas for private teachers in their campaign for registration in Victorian England, 323